

UX DESIGN | PHOTOGRAPHER

- I am a multidisciplinary designer focusing on user experience and interaction design. I am passionate about humanizing the digital experience through design thinking methodologies since it employs the most powerful way to create dynamic human-centered digital products.

I have an extensive background in photography, management, film production and user experience that allowed me to work across Canada. I am currently seeking to work in a fast-paced environment in which I can utilize my skillset in companies that share my core belief that technology can advance the human condition in a proactive and meaningful way.
